

Dear Dolphins,

How much we are all missing you I just cannot explain. The classroom looks and feels so, so, so empty but at least it's just temporary (Vocab alert- What does temporary mean?).

I hope you are all enjoying your very own home school. I cannot wait to hear all about your adventures and the learning you have been doing. Maybe you could make your own home school logos and share these with me on your return?

Please remember to stay safe and keep washing your hands because as annoying as it is, it is the only thing that's keeping us all safe! (I promise that this is not just one of those grown up tales we sometimes tell you to get you to do what we want). It is the sad truth.

I have provided you with quite a bit of work already but I was wondering if anyone would like to take on another top-secret assignment? If so, I would love for you to write a daily diary entry. By keeping this diary, not only will you be creating history, it will allow you to set free any worries you have. It would be a quick five-minute job that you could do at a time that suits you and you wouldn't have to share them with me (although I would love to hear them, if you did want to). They can be your own top-secret diaries for you to record your real-life adventures in.

Take care, keep eating your veggies to stay strong and lastly, we miss you and can't wait to see you all again!

Miss Yardley, Mrs Whittles and Mrs Sheen

Xxx

P.S. Keep saving the world Dolphins!
